11 PETITION FOR WRIT OF CERTIORARI TO 12 THE SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON
13 _____

14 Petitioner prays that a writ of certiorari issue to 15 review the judgment of the Supreme Court of the State of Oregon 16 which was made and entered in the above cause, on March 17, 1977.
17 A petition for rehearing was filed with the Oregon Supreme Court 18 and this petition for rehearing was denied on April 12, 1977.
19 _____

20 CITATIONS TO OPINIONS BELOW

21 Petitioner was charged with Escape in the Second Degree, 22 ORS 162.155. Petitioner was found guilty by a jury and was sentenced 23 on October 1, 1975. Petitioner appealed the judgment of the trial 24 court to the Oregon Court of Appeals.

25 The Oregon Court of Appeals reversed petitioner's con-26 viction in State of Oregon v. Ensio Ruben Lakeside, 25 Or App 539,

1 549 P2d. 1287 (1976). The State of Oregon petitioned the 2 Oregon Supreme Court for review of the opinion of the Court 3 of Appeals and review was granted.

4 The Oregon Supreme Court reinstated petitioner's con-5 viction and reversed the decision of the Oregon Court of Appeals, 6 with one Justice dissenting, in State of Oregon v. Ensio Ruben 7 Lakeside, 277 Or 569, P2d. (1977).

8 9 JURISDICTION

10 The jurisdiction of this Court is invoked under 28 11 U.S.C., Section 1257 (3).

12 QUESTION PRESENTED

13 Is it a violation of the Self-Incrimination Clause of 14 the Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution and a 15 violation of a defendant's Right to Counsel, guaranteed by the 16 Sixth Amendment to the United States Constitution, for the trial 17 court to comment on a defendant's failure to testify, by giving 18 a jury instruction concerning this fact, after a defendant has 19 made a timely objection to the giving of this instruction prior 20 to the charge to the jury?

21 CONSTITUTIONAL PROVISIONS INVOLVED

22 The Constitutional provisions involved in this petition 23 are the Fifth, Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments to the United 24 States Constitution.

25 Amendment V. "No person shall be held to 26 answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand

1 Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval 2 forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service 3 in time of War or public danger; nor shall any 4 person be subject for the same offense to be twice 5 put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be com-6 pelled in any criminal case to be a witness 7 against himself, nor be deprived of life, 8 liberty, or property, without due process of 9 law; nor shall private property be taken for 10 public use, without just compensation."

11 Amendment VI. "In all criminal prose-12 cutions, the accused shall enjoy the right 13 to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial 14 jury of the State and district wherein the 15 crime shall have been committed, which district 16 shall have been previously ascertained by law, 17 and to be informed of the nature and cause of 18 the accusation; to be confronted with the wit-19 nesses against him; to have compulsory process 20 for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to 21 have the Assistance of Counsel for his defense."

22 Amendment XIV. "Section 1. All persons 23 born or naturalized in the United States, and 24 subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citi-25 zens of the United States and of the state 26 wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within it's jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws..."

27 STATEMENT OF FACTS

28 Petitioner was charged with Escape in the Second Degree, 29 ORS 162.155. On September 25 and 26, 1975, petitioner stood trial.
30 Petitioner did not take the stand during his trial. As part of 31 his trial strategy, petitioner's counsel was careful to avoid 32 any mention of the fact that petitioner would not take the witness 33 stand. Petitioner's counsel made no mention of this fact in 34 Voir Dire or opening and closing argument.

1 Prior to instructing the jury, the trial court met with 2 counsel in chambers. At that time, the trial court informed coun-3 sel that it intended to give the following instruction:

4 "Under the laws of this State, a 5 defendant has the option to take the wit-6 ness stand to testify in his or her behalf.
7 If a defendant chooses not to testify, such 8 a circumstance gives rise to no inference or presumption against the defendant, and this must not be considered by you in determining the question of guilt or innocence."

9 Petitioner's counsel informed the court that he 10 did not want this instruction to be given. He stated that 11 giving the instruction was like "waving a red flag in front 12 of the jury". The trial court gave the instruction over 13 petitioner's timely objection. Petitioner took exception 14 to the giving of the instruction.

15 REASONS WHY A 16 WRIT OF CERTIORARI SHOULD BE ISSUED

17 I.

18 The importance of the issues raised outside of the 19 facts of the specific case.

20 The specific issue raised in this petition is very 21 narrow and it is whether or not it is reversible error for a 22 trial judge to instruct a jury concerning the failure of a 23 defendant to testify, when defense counsel has objected to the 24 giving of this instruction prior to the giving of the instruction.

25 This is not a case where no objection is made prior to 26 the giving of the "failure to testify" instruction, and the court

1 gives such an instruction sua sponte. This is not a case where 2 the court gives such an instruction sua sponte and objection is 3 made after the instruction is given. This is not a case where 4 one co-defendant asks for the instruction and the other co-def-5 endant objects.

6 The specific issue raised in this petition has been 7 litigated in many state and federal jurisdictions and there is 8 a split of authority in both the state and federal jurisdictions 9 on this issue. Several state and federal courts have held, 10 either directly or in dicta, that it is error for a court to 11 instruct a jury concerning the failure of a defendant to testify 12 when defense counsel has made a timely objection to the giving 13 of the instruction: State cases - People v. Molano, 253 Cal App 14 2d 841, 61 Cal Rptr 821 (1967); Russel v. State, 240 Ark 97, 398 15 SW 2d 213 (1966); Villines v. State, 492 P2d 343 (Okla Ct of Crim 16 Appeals, 1971); Gross v. State, 306 NE2d 371 (Ind. Supp., 1974); 17 People v. Horriqan, 253 Cal App 2d 519, 61 Cal Rptr 403 (1967); 18 State v. White, 285 A2d 832 (Me, 1972); State v. Kimball, 176
19 NW2d 864 (Iowa, 1970), Federal cases - U.S. v. Smith, 392 F2d.
20 302 (CA4, 1968); Mengarelli v. U.S. Marshall, 476 F2d. 617 (CA 21 9, 1973).

22 Several state and federal courts have held that it is 23 not error for a court to instruct a jury concerning the failure 24 of a defendant to testify even though defense counsel has made 25 a timely objection to the giving of the instruction: State cases - 26 State v. Goldstein, 65 Wash. 2d 901, 400 P2d. 368 (1965), cert den

1 382 U.S. 895 (1965); Pearson v. State, 28 Md. App. 196, 343 A2d.
2 916 (1975); Rogers v. State, 486 SW2d. 786 (Tex Cr App 1972);
3 Harvey v. State, 187 So 2d 59 (Fla App 1966), cert den 386 U.S.
4 923 (1967); State v. Baxter, 51 Haw 57, 454 P2d. 366 (1969), 5 cert den 397 U.S. 955 (1970). Federal cases - United States v.
6 Schwartz, 398 F2d. 464 (CA 7, 1968), cert den 393 U.S. 1062 (1969);
7 United States v. McGann, 431 F2d 1104 (CA 5, 1970); United States
8 v. Rimanich, 422 F2d 817 (CA 7 1970).

9 When the Oregon Supreme Court decided the case at bar 10 it pointed out that it had to decide whether the giving of the 11 instruction over prior objection was an invasion of constitutional 12 rights "without help from the one source which could put the issue 13 to rest; namely, the United States Supreme Court." State v. Lake-14 side, supra., 277 Or. at 587. Since this issue arises from time to 15 time in both the state and federal jurisdictions, it would be help-16 ful if this court would put the issue to rest by accepting review 17 of this case.

18 II.

19 Why giving the "failure to testify" instruction over 20 objection of defense counsel violates the Fifth Amendment to the 21 United States Constitution,

22 In Griffin v. California, 380 U.S. 609 (1965), the 23 defendant did not testify at his trial. The prosecutor commented 24 to the jury on the failure of the defendant to testify. The trial 25 court instructed the jury that the defendant had a constitutional 26 right not to testify but went on to say that the jury could consider

1 this failure to testify as evidence bearing on the question 2 of whether or not he was guilty of the crime charged. This 3 court held that the Fifth Amendment forbids either comment by 4 the prosecution on the accused's silence or instructions by the 5 court that such silence is evidence of guilt.

6 In People v. Molano, 253 Cal App 2d. 841, 61 Cal 7 Rptr 821 (1967) an instruction identical in content to the 8 instruction given in the case at bar was given over objection 9 of defense counsel. The California Court of Appeals, Second 10 District, Division Four held that:

11 "Since Griffin v. State of California, 12 (Apr. 1965) 380 US 609, 85 S Ct 1229, 14 L
13 Ed 2d 106, either comment by the prosecution 14 on the accused's silence or instructions by 15 the court that such silence is evidence of 16 guilt, are forbidden. Defendant contends, 17 and we believe correctly so, that to give 18 this instruction when he did not want it to 19 be given, was tantamount to making a 'comment' 20 proscribed by Griffin. The argument being that 21 such an instruction highlights and emphasizes 22 the fact that the accused did not take the stand.

23 "Particularly apt here, we believe, is the 24 comment of Mr. Justice Douglas in his dissenting 25 opinion in United States v. Gainey, (Mar. 1965) 26 380 US 63, 73 ...

27 'Just as it is improper for counsel to 28 argue from the defendant's silence, so is it 29 improper for the trial judge to call attention 30 to the fact of defendant's silence. Indeed, 31 under 18 U.S.C. Section 3481, the defendant 32 is entitled as a matter of right to have the 33 trial judge expressly tell the jury that it 34 must not attach any importance to the defen-35 dant's failure to testify; or if the defendant 36 sees fit, he may choose to have no mention made 37 of his silence by anyone. Bruno v. United States, 38 308 US 287, 60 S Ct 198, 84 L Ed 257' [Emphasis 39 added]" Id. 61 Cal Rptr at 824-825.

1 Although, as discussed below in part IV, it is often 2 necessary to have the "failure to testify" instruction given to 3 protect a defendant's rights, under certain circumstances, the 4 giving of the instruction constitutes a "comment" on the failure 5 of the defendant to testify and is as detrimental to a defendant's 6 position as an illegal comment by the prosecutor about this fact.

7 III.

8 Why the giving of the "failure to testify" instruction, 9 over objection, violates the Sixth Amendment to the United States 10 Constitution.

11 In United States v. Ash, 413 U.S. 305, (1973) this 12 court discussed the historical background of the Sixth Amend-13 ment:

14 "A concern of more lasting importance 15 was the recognition and awareness that an 16 unaided layman had little skill in arguing 17 the law or coping with an intricate pro-18 cedural system. The function of counsel as 19 a guide to complex legal technicalities long 20 has been recognized by this Court. Mr. Justice 21 Sutherland's well known observations in Powell 22 bear repeating here:

23 'Even the intelligent and educated 24 layman has small and sometimes no skill 25 in the science of law. If charged with 26 crime, he is incapable, generally, of determining for himself whether the indictment is good or bad. He is unfamiliar with the rules of evidence.
Left without the aid of counsel he may be put on trial without a proper charge or evidence that is irrelevant to the issue or otherwise inadmissible. He lacks both the skill and knowledge adequately to prepare his defense even though he may have a perfect one. He requires the guiding hand of counsel at every step in the proceedings against

1 him. Without it, though he be not guilty 2 he faces the danger of conviction because 3 he does not know how to establish his 4 innocence.' 287 U.S., at 69, 53 S. Ct., 5 at 64.

6 "The Court frequently has interpreted the 7 Sixth Amendment to assure that the 'guiding 8 hand of counsel' is available to those in need 9 of it's assistance . . . " Id., 413 U.S. at 10 307-308.

11 Later on the Court stated that:

12 ". . . Mr. Justice Balck, writing for the 13 Court in Johnson v. Zerbst, 304 U.S. 458, 462-14 463, 58 S. Ct. 1019, 1022, 82 L Ed 1461 (1938), 15 spoke of this equalizing effect of the Sixth 16 Amendment's counsel guarantee:

17 'It embodies a realistic recog-18 nition of the obvious truth that the 19 average defendant does not have the 20 professional legal skill to protect 21 himself when brought before a tri-22 bunal with power to take his life or 23 liberty, wherein the prosecution is 24 presented by experienced and learned 25 counsel'

26 "This historical background suggests that the core purpose of the counsel guarantee was to assure 'Assistance' at trial, when the accused was confronted with both the intricacies of the law and the advocacy of the public prosecutor." Id., 413 U.S. at 309.

27 Petitioner is indigent and had to have an attorney 28 appointed to represent him so that he, a layman, might have 29 the benefit of the advice of someone trained in the law at his 30 trial. Petitioner's counsel decided that it would be adverse 31 to petitioner's interests to have petitioner testify at his 32 trial. As part of his trial strategy, petitioner made no mention 33 of this fact during voir dire or opening and closing arguments.
34 Petitioner's counsel made no comment on the petitioner's failure

1 to testify because petitioner's counsel did not want to highlight 2 this point. When the trial court gave the objected to instruction, 3 it called attention to the fact that petitioner did not testify 4 and destroyed all the possible benefit that might have inured to 5 petitioner because of the trial strategy. Additionally, had 6 petitioner's counsel known that the trial court was going to 7 give the "failure to testify" instruction, petitioner's counsel 8 might have changed his strategy and voir dired the jury on the 9 effect that not having the petitioner testify might have on each 10 individual juror.

11 The Sixth Amendment guarantees a defendant the right 12 to have counsel to advise him at his trial. One of the functions 13 of an attorney is to plan a trial strategy. The selection of 14 witnesses, the content of voir dire, the content of direct and 15 cross examination and the content of opening and closing arguments 16 are often dictated by the trial strategy. Obviously, a judge has 17 a duty to interfere with a trial strategy that violates, for in-18 stance, the rules of evidence. If petitioner's counsel, as part 19 of his trial strategy, had sought to introduce inadmissible hearsay 20 evidence, the court would have to interfere with the trial strategy 21 by keeping such evidence out of the trial. However, under the 22 specific facts in the case at bar, there was no rule of law which 23 mandated the giving of the instruction. It makes a mockery of the 24 Sixth Amendment to hold that a defendant has a right to counsel, 25 but then permit a judge to overrule the advice that that counsel 26 gives to a defendant, when there is no legal basis for interfering.

1 IV.

2 Since it is reversible error for a trial court to 3 refuse to give the "failure to testify" instruction when re-4 quested by defense counsel, how can it be reversible error 5 for the court to give such an instruction?

6 Under federal law, Bruno v. United States, 308 US 287 7 (1959), and the law of the State of Oregon, State v. Hale, 22 Or 8 App 144, 537 P2d 1173 (1975), a defendant has an absolute right 9 to have the "failure to testify" instruction given. The argument 10 is frequently made that if it is reversible error for a trial 11 court to refuse to give this instruction, it can not be reversible 12 error to give the instruction. In State v. Baxter, supra., 454 13 P2d at 367, the Hawaii Supreme Court stated that:

14 "We can not see how an identical instruction 15 will affect a jury differently by the fact that, 16 unbeknown to it, in one case there was an object-17 ion and in the other there was not..."

18 The wording of the "failure to testify" instruction is 19 not at issue here. What is at issue is the giving of the instruct-20 ion at all.

21 Under certain circumstances, it is advantageous to 22 have the trial court instruct the jury concerning the defendant's 23 failure to testify. If the defendant can not take the stand for 24 some reason and there is evidence in the trial that can only be 25 explained by the defendant, then defense counsel would want to 26 have a "failure to testify" instruction given to the jury in hopes that they will not hold the defendant's failure to testify against him.

1 Under other circumstances, it is extremely disadvan-2 tageous to have a "failure to testify" instruction given.
3 Suppose that defendant puts on an alibi defense and produces 4 several witnesses who testify that the defendant was at some 5 place other than the scene of the crime at the time that the 6 crime was committed. Furthermore, assume that the defendant 7 has a lengthy criminal record, including convictions for the 8 crime charged, and makes a bad appearance on the stand. Since 9 the defendant would add nothing to the testimony of the alibi 10 witnesses and would injure his cause by taking the stand, trial 11 strategy would dictate that defense counsel not put defendant 12 on the stand and try to call as little attention as possible to 13 the defendant's failure to take the stand. If the defendant's 14 witnesses supply all of the information that the defendant 15 would supply had he taken the stand, the jury will probably not 16 think too much of the defendant's failure to take the stand.
17 Under such circumstances, defense counsel would not want to 18 have the failure of the defendant to take the stand highlighted 19 by the giving of an instruction concerning this fact.

20 The giving of an identically worded "failure to testify" 21 instruction can be harmful or helpful depending on the facts of 22 the individual case. Defense counsel, if competent, is the 23 best person to determine when the failure to testify instruction 24 should be given. If defense counsel determines that the giving 25 of the instruction will be detrimental to his client, it is a 26 violation of both the Fifth and Sixth Amendments to the United

1 States Constitution for a trial judge to give that instruction 2 over objection.

3 CONCLUSION

4 For the foregoing reasons, petitioner prays that a 5 Writ of Certiorari issued to review the judgment rendered by 6 the Oregon Supreme Court in this case.
